

MODERN SLAVERY STATEMENT

FY25 (1st July 2025 – 30th June 2026)

Slavery and Human Trafficking remains a hidden yet dangerous problem within our global society. We all have a responsibility to be vigilant in recognising and responding to the risks, however small, in our business and in the wider supply chain.

Australia Post Global eCommerce Solutions have always been keen to deliver comprehensive training to all of our staff on the topic of human rights. As a company, we aim to encourage every employee within our business to be vigilant, ensuring any concerns are reported to Senior Management and acted upon with immediate effect.

About APG

APG eCommerce Solutions is one of the leading suppliers of cross border e-commerce delivery solutions.

With an established presence in key global trade lanes, including Asia, Europe and the USA, APG provides end-to-end logistics solutions to a portfolio of iconic global e-commerce merchants.

We offer a unique delivery experience thanks to our bespoke platform that combines Australia Post's unrivalled last-mile capabilities with a strong partnership network of postal operators and best in class e-commerce delivery companies.

Our Supply Chain

At APG eCommerce Solutions, we always ensure to engage with our suppliers on a regular basis via a multitude of channels. We continually monitor our suppliers on all aspects and in the case of finding any gaps, we work with them to set plans to amend the policies. This aligns with our minimum requirements that our global network must follow, including not using modern slavery or child labour; providing a healthy and safe working environment; and assessing any potential environmental impacts.

We are very aware of the potential risks of Human Trafficking and Modern-Day Slavery across the supply chain, and no matter how small these risks may be, we are taking active steps to identify and correct them as quickly as possible.

Actions

APG have raised employee awareness on the risks of Modern-Day Slavery and Human Trafficking by providing internal online training via our Code of Conduct, in addition to providing updates across our anti-bribery, anti-corruption and whistleblowing policies. We will continually review our training platform and policies on a regular basis ensuring that all employees understand the evolving risks as they undergo their day to day roles and are aware of the help and support that will be provided to them if they were to report any suspected incidents that they observe.

We also have systems in place to encourage the reporting of concerns and the protection of whistle blowers. We have a steadfast commitment to equal opportunities, an intolerance of discrimination and harassment and are dedicated to maintaining a workplace that is free from discrimination on the basis of race, sex, colour, religion, or age, to name just a few, or any unjust or unfair practices.

Reporting

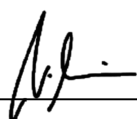

We've introduced new and improved channels for reporting issues or concerns through our whistleblowing channels as available on our website.

Next Steps

APG will continue to strive towards maintaining high standards of ethical standards across our global network and beyond. We will look to build on our current action points to provide greater understating of the risks associated through increased training opportunities.
